

INTRODUCTION

The City of Buenos Aires is the capital and most populous city of the Argentine Republic. Officially the city is divided into 15 communes that group 48 neighborhoods. The estimated population of the city is 3,075,646 habitants and that of the Agglomerate Gran Buenos Aires is 17,541,141 habitants, the latter being the second agglomerate of Hispanoamerica, the second in South America and one of the 20 largest cities in the world.

Buenos Aires is a cosmopolitan city and an important tourist destination. Its complex infrastructure makes it one of the most important metropolises in America and is a global city of alpha category, given its influences on trade, finance, fashion, art, gastronomy, education, entertainment and mainly in its marked culture. According to a quality of life study (2016) by Mercer Human Resource Consulting the city is ranked 93rd globally and second in Latin America after Montevideo.

The gastronomy of the city of Buenos Aires is characterized by two great European contributions: Italian and Spanish, is just as varied as the rest of the culture, including red meats, fish, pastas and empanadas, which are originating in the northwest of Argentina. Buenos Aires is characterized by a huge offer of bars and restaurants. The city has a privileged group of 60 bars with great history and renown within the city. The city also has a large number of restaurants of international food such as Italian, Chinese, Spanish, Japanese, Korean, etc.

With the rise of bars dedicated to craft beer, this project will seek to list and visualize all the neighborhoods of the City of Buenos Aires in search of the best place to open a new bar.
